

DELOS International Summer School on Digital Library Technologies

ISDL 2002

8 - 12 July 2002, Pisa, Italy

Introduction

The DELOS Network of Excellence is pleased to announce its second International Summer School on Digital Library Technologies (ISDL 2002) to be held in Pisa, Italy, from July 8-12, 2002. This year the school will focus on Digital Library applications, i.e., the exploitation of Digital Library technologies in several application domains. The lecturers of the School will be leading researchers in the Digital Library field, both from the US and from Europe. Each lecture will be devoted to a presentation of a Digital library application in a specific application domain. An introductory lecture on Digital Libraries will also be given.

The DELOS Network of Excellence is an initiative funded by the fifth Framework Program of the European Commission, within the Key Action on Multimedia Contents and Tools of the Information Society Technologies (please visit the web site <http://www.delos-noe.org> for further information about DELOS).
